

MOLECULAR BIOSWITCH FOR DETECTING PROTEIN INTERACTIONS USING ELECTRICAL CONDUCTIVITY

Abstract of the Disclosure

Preferred aspects of the present invention relate to a method for detection and quantification of molecular interactions between proteins bound to a support and ligand molecules, in particular antibodies, in a test sample. More particularly, the preferred methods takes advantage of the electrical conductivity of metal-antibody conjugates.

PATENT

Docs\Mrb\Miragene\011pr\011A\011A-stewart-mrb2.doc
062703